Pulse Art and Technology Festival
February 27- March 3, 2012

27 programs, 2 exhibitions, 4 artist installations, attendance: 3,213

The 2012 Pulse festival offered cutting edge art in 2 exhibitions and 4 site specific art projects including a major exhibition of light sculptor Leo Villareal’s work, the Telfair-organized Game Change, the first museum exhibition in Georgia devoted to artists working in the medium of video-games, and a large scale atrium sculpture by local artist Andrew Scott. Pulse program schedule was the most ambitious to date featuring 27 lectures, performances, workshops, outreach and family events. The free City-sponsored festival was attended by more than 3,200 people.

Juneteenth
June 21-23, 2012

3 programs, attendance: 890

Telfair’s 5th annual Juneteenth festival celebrated freedom in a series of programs including a lecture by author Beverly Jenkins at 2nd African Baptist Church, a rousing performance by percussionist David Pleasant, and a Juneteenth at the Jepson family event attended by 600 people.
The museum gratefully acknowledges those individuals, foundations, corporations, and government agencies whose annual membership, event underwriting, and unrestricted contributions have helped sustain the Telfair’s core operations and programs.

Dr. Cheryl Davenport Dozier

Cheryl D. Dozier was named the 13th president of Savannah State University on May 9th, 2012, after serving one year as interim president and quickly instilling a culture of service, strength and unity across the Savannah State campus. An experienced and highly regarded university-level professor, researcher, author and administrator known throughout the University System of Georgia for her intellect, charisma and leadership abilities, Dozier is firmly committed to advancing the legacy of academic excellence and community engagement set in place when SSU was founded in 1890.

Prior to taking the helm at Savannah State, Dozier served as associate provost and chief diversity officer for the Office of Institutional Diversity at the University of Georgia. In that role — to which she was appointed in 2006 after four years as assistant vice president of academic affairs at the Gwinnett University Center — Dozier led UGA’s efforts to evaluate existing programs and develop new initiatives to support diversity and equity. Dozier earned her bachelor’s degree from Fairleigh-Dickinson University, her Master of Social Work degree from the Atlanta University School of Social Work (now Clark-Atlanta University) and her Doctor of Social Work degree from Hunter College at the Graduate Center of the City University of New York.

She is an active member of numerous professional and civic organizations — including the board of the United Way of the Coastal Empire, Savannah Economic Development Authority, and the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference (MEAC) Council of Presidents — and president of the Georgia Association for Women in Higher Education.

Dozier is married to South Carolina native Arthur Dozier II for more than 30 years, she enjoys spending time with family, especially her grandchildren.

Josh Keller

Originally from Louisville, Kentucky, Josh Keller moved to Savannah in 2002 to pursue his career in the communications business where he serves as Director for a Verizon Wireless retailer and is responsible for 21 locations and 160 employees in Savannah with a territory of coastal Florida, Georgia & South Carolina. Josh graduated from Indiana University with a degree in Marketing. Mr. Keller has served on the boards of the Savannah Children’s Choir, Downtown Neighborhood Association and is also on the board of the Historic Savannah Foundation. Josh is married to Kelley Keller.

Ted Moore

William T. Moore is retired from the University of South Carolina as Distinguished Professor Emeritus. He earned a Ph.D. in finance and statistics from Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1982, joined the faculty at Indiana University in that year, and moved to the University of South Carolina in 1986. He held the Berlinberg endowed chair at USC and in 2004 he began serving in various posts in university administration. These positions included Associate Provost, Vice Provost, Vice President for Planning, Executive Vice President and Provost, and Vice President for Finance and Chief Financial Officer at USC, overseeing an annual budget of $1.1 billion.

Dr. Moore is an expert in capital investment analysis and has published 75 scholarly articles, a book and a monograph on financial topics. Working with Dr. S. Chen in the 1980s and 1990s he helped develop modern methods for accounting for uncertainty in assessing capital project values. Working with other colleagues in the 1990s until present, he has focused on corporate financing policy involving option-embedded securities, and evaluation of capital investment projects to account for growth and timing options. Much of this work is contained in his book, Real Options & Option-Embedded Securities, published by John Wiley & Sons in 2001.
During his academic career, Moore received numerous awards for research and teaching, including the highest awards offered for teaching excellence and research accomplishments from the University of South Carolina. Prior to entering the academic world, he served on active duty in the U.S. Army in various positions as an infantry officer which included combat experience in Vietnam in 1968-69. Moore's wife is Linda T. Moore, an attorney who served as director of legal affairs at the USC School of Medicine. They have recently moved to Savannah where both are active in civic and philanthropic activities.

David Paddison

David E. Paddison, CPCU serves as President of Seacrest Partners, Inc., a privately-held insurance brokerage and employee benefits consulting firm based in Savannah, Georgia. A native of Savannah, Mr. Paddison has been active in the local insurance and business community for more than 29 years. As the head of Seacrest Partners, Mr. Paddison is committed to building an organization that is an asset to the community in terms of professionalism and civic support.

Mr. Paddison began his career in the insurance industry in 1984 when he joined the commercial insurance division of Palmer & Cay, Inc. in Savannah, Georgia. During his 29 years in the insurance brokerage business, Mr. Paddison has provided risk management advice and property-casualty insurance brokerage services to clients in a wide range of industries and in every region of the United States. He has developed special expertise in risk management and insurance plan design for major contractors, national retailers and large property management firms.

In 2006, Mr. Paddison and six former Palmer & Cay executives established a new insurance brokerage and benefits consulting firm, Seacrest Partners, Inc. Seacrest Partners now employs 42 insurance professionals in Savannah and Atlanta and their client list extends across the United States. Seacrest Partners’ staff includes industry specialists in healthcare, construction, financial institutions, education, retail, manufacturing and property management.

Mr. Paddison earned a Bachelor of Arts in Economics from Drew University in Madison, New Jersey. While attending Drew University, Mr. Paddison was an active member of the Cycling and Lacrosse teams and studied international economics in Brussels, Belgium and at the United Nations headquarters in New York City. A dedicated student of his profession, Mr. Paddison earned the Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter (CPCU) professional designation in 1993. Other industry designations include Associate in Fidelity and Surety Bonding (AFSB) and Accredited Advisor in Insurance (AAI).

Kendall McCurry, Art Fair Chair

McCurry is a native of Baton Rouge, Louisiana. She graduated from Louisiana State University with a Bachelor of Arts degree in French. After living and working in Atlanta, Georgia for several years, she moved to Savannah in 2001 to attend the Savannah College of Art and Design. Upon receiving a Master of Arts in Art History, Kendall worked for SCAD in their Exhibitions and Admissions departments, as well as at the SCAD Museum of Art. Kendall is married to Savannahian Jamie McCurry, and in addition to raising their two children, Kendall is an Independent Consultant for the Carlisle Collection. Kendall is a member of St. Thomas Episcopal Church and she supports many community organizations, including the Junior League of Savannah (sustainer), Memorial Hospital’s Next Generation, and the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society.
Linda McWhorter, Gari Melchers Collectors’ Society Chair

Linda McWhorter graduated from Skidmore College with a degree in Art History and went on to do her graduate work at Emory University in English. She and her husband Tom moved to Savannah in 1972 where they raised their three children. During that time Linda has served the community in various ways including the Junior League, Symphony Women’s Guild, Savannah Book Festival, City Lights Theater, Savannah Ballet and Savannah Ballet Theatre and The Learning Center. Linda’s extensive work for at Telfair includes being president of the Friends of the Owens-Thomas, former President and current member of the Telfair Academy Guild.

Susanne Heusner

Telfair Academy Guild (TAG) President, was raised in Iowa. She graduated from Stephens Women’s College in Columbia, Missouri and received a Bachelor of Science Degree from Iowa State University. Her early career was in retailing with a large Midwestern retail chain.

Sue and Bud Heusner were married in 1959. She became a full time Mom and moved the family as he pursued his career in the Forest Products Industry. This led to stops in Omaha, Denver, San Francisco, Cincinnati, New Canaan, Connecticut, and retired to Savannah in 1999.

As the family moved she was always active in the children’s school and volunteering in the respective community. Prior to moving to Savannah, Sue spent five years in the management of a national Human resource Corporation. In Savannah, she has served on the Board of the Landings New Neighbors, the Board and President of Savannah Newcomers. She joined TAG in 2005, and later became Vice President of Programs, Corresponding Secretary, and Co-Chair of the 2011 Artful Table. She is honored to be the New TAG President.
